at the Batu Mbelin Rescue Centre
located in Northern Sumatra, Indonesia.

The Batu Mbelin Rescue Centre is located near the small village of Sembahe in North Sumatra. Because of its quarantine status, the site is not open to visitors. Most of the staff at the Centre are from the local villages and the majority of the orangutans' food stuffs are locally produced fruits and vegetables. The Batu Mbelin Rescue Centre has managed to foster an excellent 'community spirit' and they enjoy a great deal of support from the indigenous Karo Batak people.
